forty members had enrolled their name on the Speaker's list as candidates for the floor. The vote is to be taken at 4 o'clock this afternoon, when of course the articles will be adopted. One of the rules reported by the Se-lect Committee in the Senate requires that the Senate take up the articles on the day following their presentment at the bar of the Senate. The House base it impeachment solely on the acts of the President beginning with and oc curring since the removal of Secretary Stanton. The counts embodied in the articles may be thus summarized: I. The removal of Stanton in viola-

VI. The Conspiring with Thomas to binder the execution of the civil tenure law in preventing Stanton from holding his office.

VII. The attempt by the appointment of Thomas to control the bursement of moneys of the United States appropriated for military purposes.

VIII. The declaring, and instructing Gen. Emory, commanding the Department of Washington, that the act declaring all instructions relating to military operations issued by the President or Secretary of War shall be made through the General of the Army, was unconstitutional and in contravention of Emory's commission.

looks very much like business. The House burdens its articles with no old matter. It charges only what is clearly established by documentary evi-dence, save in the Xth article, to establish which the testimony of Gen, Emo-ry will be required. We should think this article alone if made good ought also true that no Andrew Johnson was ever before President. That the country is ready to see this man removed and believes his removal to be the real remedy for the disorders that afflict the impeachment proceedings are received in commercial circles. Weak kneed Republicans and all others opposed to impeachment have heretofore een trying to convince the public and themselves that an attempt to impeach the President would create a paule and bring on a financial crisis. fact is that when Stanton was repeachment would follow,-when the excitement was at the highest pitch, and it was uncertain whether Johnson Stanton and resist the authority of Congress, gold, the most sensitive of all commercial indications, fluctuated but two or three per cent., and that probably in response to the manipulations of operators. Such a fact is exceedingly ted. significant; and with such a fact in view, and in view of the general expression in all quarters, we must be lieve that no one event could so rapidly

THE Register a few mornings since in its dignified comments on the Republican State Convention which met Saturday afternoon a week ago, made the point that members of the Legislature who took part in that Convention were censurable in that they were under pay as members of the Legislature (at the enormous rate of $3 per diem!) and their time was the exclusive property of their constituents. We thought then (and haven't changed our mind) that it was the smallest and meanest suggestion we had ever seen in print; and we therefore refrained from re-minding the Register that some of the Democratic members were at Moundsville the same day attending the Democratic Convention there—drawing their $3 a day all the while, just like the terrible "radicals." Besides, the radical members who participated in the Republican Convention previously attended the regular day's session, while their Democratic colleagues were absent all day. Yet we have not heard that the latter refuse their $3 per day. We had no thought of mentioning this article alone if made good ought to depose Mr. Johuson. If the Senate will do its duty in as resolnte a spirit as the House has thus far acted, it cannot be long till the country will be rid of the man who now crouches like a nightmare on its bosom. The law and the facts are the ample warrant for such action. It is true no President has ever been deposed before, but it is also true that no Andrew Johnson was ever before President.
